

ETHICS AND MALPRACTICE STATEMENT FOR ADJURIS - INTERNATIONAL ACADEMIC PUBLISHER

Rights and responsibilities of authors, reviewers and editors of ADJURIS - INTERNATIONAL ACADEMIC PUBLISHER are presented below.

RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES OF AUTHORS

Originality manuscript. Citing sources. Responsibility for plagiarism. By submitting a manuscript to Adjuris - International Academic Publisher for publication, the author(s) warrant that the manuscript is their own, original work and that it has neither been published previously nor is currently being considered for publication elsewhere. They also warrant that the sources of any ideas and/or words in the manuscript that are not their own have been properly attributed through appropriate bibliographical references and using quotes. In case of breach of copyright law/ in case of plagiarism, the entire responsibility rests with the author of the manuscript. The editorial board of Publishing House does not assume any liability for infringement by the authors of the regulations included in copyright legislation and the achievement of plagiarism. If discovered a case of violation of copyright law/plagiarism, the manuscript will be rejected or a published book will be retracted. The editors and members of the Publisher Scientific Council is exempted from any liability regarding the author's points of view included in the published work.

Elaboration of the manuscript shall meet the requirements for editing. The manuscript submitted must comply with the requirements for writing under the Author Guidelines for Adjuris - International Academic Publisher.

Not accepting redundant publication. Adjuris - International Academic Publisher does not accept works in the same language that have already been submitted in part or in full in a manuscript published or which are described in another manuscript sent or accepted by other electronic or printed publications. In case of a redundant publication, the manuscript will be rejected or a published work will be retracted.

Accurate presentation of the primary data. Underlying data (statistical indicators, legal regulations, jurisprudential solutions, doctrinal opinions, polls and so on) should be represented accurately in the manuscript. Knowingly presenting false or falsified data may be grounds for rejection of the manuscript or withdrawal of the work published. The fabrication of results and the making of fraudulent or knowingly inaccurate statements may be cause for rejection or retraction of a manuscript or published work.

Authorizations for reproduction and copyright. Authors are responsible for obtaining written permission to include any images/artwork or documents/texts for which they do not hold copyright in their manuscripts, or to adapt any such images/artwork or documents/texts for inclusion in their manuscripts. The copyright holder must be made explicitly aware that the images/artwork or documents/texts will be made freely available online as part of the e-book under the Creative Commons Attribution – NonCommercial – NoDerivs 3.0 Unported License

Giving the names of those who have contributed to this manuscript. The authors’ names should be listed on the manuscript in order of their contribution to the work. All authors take responsibility for their own contributions. Only those individuals who have made a substantive contribution should be listed as authors; those whose contributions are indirect or marginal (e.g., those who provided proofreading or translation of materials, the doctorate coordinators/heads of research centers, which have guided/allowed the realization of manuscript by the authors, people who have financed the research narrated in manuscript) should be named in an “Acknowledgments” section at the end of the manuscript, immediately preceding the Bibliography. The corresponding author must ensure that all appropriate co-authors and no inappropriate co-authors are included on the manuscript, and that all listed co-authors have seen and approved the final version of the manuscript and agreed to its publication.

Mention sources of financial support. Sources of financial support of the research materialized in manuscript (grants, scholarships etc.) should be mentioned in the paper in a footnote attached to the title of the manuscript/chapter manuscript.

Prohibition to give the manuscript to other publications. Manuscripts submitted for publication purposes may not be offer to other publications, than after receiving the response in the sense that the material can not be published at Adjuris - International Academic Publisher or after 6 months when it was registered the material at editorial office and it was not received a refuse of publication.

Copyright protections of the manuscripts published at Adjuris - International Academic Publisher. RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES OF REVIEWERS

Evaluation system. The manuscripts received for publication at Adjuris - International Academic Publisher will be revised using the „double blind” peer review system, respecting international standards of scientific books. Thus, any manuscript submitted for publication will be reviewed by two specialists with a national and international reputation in legal sciences. Review will be done on an anonymous basis (author's name is not communicated to the reviewers; reviewers name is not communicated to the author). If necessary, the authors will receive recommendations and observations to improve the quality of their paper's content. It is possible to refuse publication of the manuscript to the proposal made by reviewers.

Status of reviewers. Scientific reviewers of the Adjuris - International Academic Publisher operates on a voluntary basis, part-time. Scientific reviewers will complete at beginning of the activity a form with their areas of competence. The editor responsible for book will send the manuscript for evaluation to at least 2 reviewers with scientific competence in the subject of research, together with an evaluation form. The reviewers who have accepted manuscript assessment tasks must submit completed evaluation form later than one month of receiving it. Reviewers are free to decline invitations to review particular manuscripts if their current employment workload and/or other commitments make it prohibitive for them to complete a review in a timely fashion and to do justice to the task in the available timeframe. The reviewers are obliged to refuse an invitation to evaluate a manuscript if the manuscript content does not match their area of expertise or in the event of a conflict of interest (e.g., one resulting from competitive, collaborative, or other relationships or connections with institutions, or companies associated with the manuscript).

Confidentiality of information and ideas obtained through the peer review process. Privileged information or ideas obtained by reviewers through the peer review process must be kept confidential and not used for personal advantage. Any manuscripts received for review must be treated as confidential documents, and must not be shown to or discussed with others except as authorized by the editors of Publishing House.

Objectivity of the evaluation. When conducting their reviews, reviewers are asked to do so as objectively as possible, refraining from engaging in personal criticism of the author(s). They are encouraged to express their views clearly, explaining and justifying all recommendations made. They should always attempt to provide detailed and constructive feedback to assist the author(s) in improving their work.

Content of evaluation. Reviewers will complete the Evaluation Form sent of the editor responsible for book. In the Evaluation Form, reviewers should include the appreciations regarding the topic relevance and degree of scientific novelty, knowledge of relevant literature in the field, consistency and quality of writing style, research methods used by the author(s), the logic of scientific arguments, the correct use of bibliographic sources. Reviewers should call attention to the editor responsible for book any major resemblances between a manuscript under consideration and other published books or papers of which they are aware, as well as any concerns they might have in relation to the ethical acceptability of the research reported in the manuscript. In conducting the evaluation, reviewers will take into account the provisions of COPE Ethical Guidelines for Peer Reviewers published by Committee on Publication Ethics (COPE). Following the evaluation, reviewers can recommend: publication of the manuscript, publication of the manuscript only if it will be amended in accordance with the observations made in the Evaluation Form; not publishing the manuscript.

RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES OF EDITORS

The final decision of publishing. The editor responsible for book has ultimate responsibility for deciding if a manuscript submitted to Adjuris - International Academic Publisher should be published and in doing so is guided by the evaluations carried out by scientific reviewers, by the provisions of this Ethics and Malpractice Statement and by the copyright law. The editor responsible for book may consult with members of the Scientific Council, as well as with reviewers, in making publication decisions.

Objectivity of the evaluation. Prohibition of discrimination on grounds related to the person of the author. The editors will evaluate manuscripts for their intellectual content without regard to the race, gender, religious beliefs, ethnic origin, citizenship, or political philosophy of the author(s).

Confidentiality of the information and ideas contained in the manuscript. The editors will not disclose any information about a manuscript under consideration to anyone other than the author(s) and reviewers.

Ensuring the integrity of the evaluation process. The editors will make every effort to ensure the integrity of the „double blind” peer review process by not revealing the identity of the author(s) of a manuscript to the reviewers of that manuscript, and vice versa.

Evaluation harmful effects in ethics of scientific research. When evaluating a manuscript for publication, the editors will seek evidence that ethical harms have been minimized in the conduct of the reported research. They will question whether the benefits outweigh the harms in the particular study's case.

Request for information on compliance of scientific research ethics. Adjuris - International Academic Publisher welcomes the submission of manuscripts from any country. The Publishing House recognizes that laws and regulations regarding research ethics and ethical approval vary worldwide. As such, the editors may need to seek clarification in this regard with the author(s) and to send notifications to institutions responsible for research ethics in the country of the author and / or international organizations active in this field.

Guidelines used by editors. In analyzing of the manuscript, editors will consider compliance the publication requirements set out under the Author Guidelines for Adjuris - International Academic Publisher and recommendations of the Guidance for Editors: Research, Audit and Service Evaluations published by Committee on Publication Ethics (COPE).
